

Academic Bridge Program welcomes new students

A three day orientation for its new students marked the commencement of a new academic year at Academic Bridge Program. The orientation provided administration, faculty, and support staff an opportunity to meet the incoming students and introduce them to ABP policies and procedures for the school year.

In its eighth year, ABP witnessed a remarkable enrollment of students graduating from Qatari high schools. Student enrollment has increased by 60% over the previous years.

The first day of orientation began with a speech by Dr Miles Lovelace, Director of ABP and new hire Dr Raúl Hinojosa, Assistant Director for Academic Affairs. Later, Dr Shetha Al Numan, Assistant Director of Student Services introduced the new students to ABP staff alumni of ABP.

On the second day, the new students visited the library, went on a tour of the LAS building and attended presentations on study skills, expectations of college life and how to plan for university admission. Students were also given an overview of the facilities and a tour of Education City.

Awraq wishes the new ABP students the best of luck in their quest for university enrollment.
